Description: Come and visit the University of Nottingham's newly refurbished and extended George Green Library. A state-of-the-art facility and a significant investment in improving the library experience for students and academics.

We will offer a tour of the new space, exhibitions of the building project and student and library staff feedback. Frontline library staff will talk about their experience of the development and working within the new environment.

There will be opportunity for group discussion and plenary feedback on the following themes:

- Sustaining library services throughout a major building project
- Using library space to create community
- Delivering an excellent customer service in a large building
