

All the Same – But Different

A Visit to the Bamford Library, Harper Adams University

Date: Tuesday 13th June 2017

Time: 11.00 – 2.00

Please bring a packed lunch. Lunchtime drinks will be provided.

Venue: Bamford Library, Harper Adams University, Newport, Shropshire TF10 8NB

Description:

We would like to invite you to Harper Adams, located in rural Shropshire.

Join us for a tour of our library and hear how the space and our services have evolved since the building opened in 2003. We will also explore other learning spaces outside the library. After a break for lunch you will hear from two of our library assistants on how their roles have changed over the years from issuing books to working on reading lists, collection management and catalogue enhancement, and how the internet has transformed their work in document supply and turned them into super searchers. There will be plenty of time for questions and discussion. The event will end with another member of the library team reflecting on his roles as a library assistant and now a librarian.

Audience: This event is aimed at all levels of library staff.

Booking: Contact your Mercian Staff Development Group representative to book a place by Friday 9th June.

Travel:

Travel details and a campus map can be found here

<http://www.harper-adams.ac.uk/general/find-us.cfm>

Car parking is free. However, please register before you arrive.

<http://www.harper-adams.ac.uk/general/visitors/registration.cfm>

Please note there is no station close by. Harper Adams is 15 miles from Stafford Station and 10 miles from Telford Station.

Further enquiries: Please contact Kathryn Greaves (kgreaves@harper-adams.ac.uk) 01952 815520